

MIGHELS TRIAL TO BE BEFORE OTHER TWO

MAN CHARGED WITH KILLING OF KINCAID WILL GET SECOND TRIAL WEEK OF OCT. 7.

TO CLEAR WAY FOR GREEN AND SANDERS

Judge Heard Completes Reading of Docket—List of Cases Set for Trial Is Given—Murder Trials Will Not Take Place for Several Weeks.

Ira Mighell will probably be placed on trial the second time for the killing of Emory Kincaid the third week of the present term of the circuit court, which week commences on October 7. Although on definite agreement to begin his trial at that time has been reached by Attorneys Edwards and Erwin, it is thought by the court attaches that such a decision will be reached, in order to get the case out of the way for the Sanders and Green murder cases, should they be tried this term.

Judge Heard this morning completed the reading of the docket, and the following cases were set for trial:

Monday, Sept. 23—McGovern vs. Hayes, trespass.
Wednesday, Sept. 25—Siebert vs. Phipps, assumpsit.
Thursday, Sept. 26—McCormick vs. Downs, appeal.
Monday, Sept. 30—Spaulding vs. C. B. & Q., trespass.
Tuesday, Oct. 1—Hower vs. C. B. & Q., trespass.
Wednesday, Oct. 2—Dunbar vs. C. & N. W., trespass.
Thursday, Oct. 3—Casey vs. C. & N. W., trespass.
Friday, Oct. 4—City of Dixon vs. Mayer, appeal.
Monday, Oct. 7—Parker vs. American Patriots, assumpsit.
Tuesday, Oct. 8—Yenerich vs. Linderman, trespass.

The following cases were placed on trial list at the request of the attorneys:

Criminal Cases.
The People vs. Ira Mighell, murder.
The People vs. Warren Sanders, murder.
The People vs. Samuel Green, murder.

Common Law.
Miller vs. Fuller, assumpsit.
Libre vs. Brotherhood of American Yeoman, assumpsit.
Stanton vs. Oregon Foundry and Machine Co., assumpsit.
Lebovich vs. Benjamin, assumpsit.
Leonard vs. Sweeney, appeal.
Chicago Legal News vs. Geiger, appeal.
Stephen vs. Gross, case.
Haynes vs. Bowser, replevin.
Burhenn vs. Herbon, assumpsit.
Planck vs. McWethy, trespass. Defaulted.
Sterling Candy Co., vs. Cledon, assumpsit.
Sublette Exchange Bank vs. Jewell, assumpsit. Defaulted.
Runyan vs. Barrett, debt. Defaulted.
Branigan vs. Branigan, appeal.
Swan vs. Long & Durr, trespass.
Swan vs. Garland, trespass.
Seigmond vs. Sandusky Portland Cement Co., trespass.
Asbestos Pro. Met. Co. vs. Northern Ill. Elec. Ry. Co., assumpsit.
Fane vs. Mystic Workers, trespass.

Chancery Cases.
Herfeldt vs. Herfeldt, divorce. By jury.
Dixon vs. Shaw, interpleader.
Olson vs. Cash.
Briggs vs. Pbederer.
Merrow vs. Merrow, divorce.
Gilmore vs. Harman.
McClain vs. McClain, divorce.
Brookner vs. Brookner, divorce.
Krug vs. Knapp, partition.
Kaylor vs. Fletcher Mfg. Co., partition.
Stitzel vs. Stebins.
Hughes vs. Dixon.
Arndt vs. Arndt, divorce.
Hughes vs. McCoy, lein.

Court Adjourned.
After issuing some orders in minor chancery cases Judge Heard adjourned court until tomorrow morning. He expects to adjourn court until Monday then, at which time the petty jury will report and the trial of cases will begin.

NICARAGUA ASKED FOR U. S. TROOPS

Minister of Foreign Affairs Said Republic Couldn't Protect Americans.

MENA'S PROMISES UNKEPT

State Department Gives Correspondence Showing Reason for Intervention—Is Against Revival of Zelayism.

Washington, Sept. 18.—In explanation and ratification of the United States having practically taken over the government of the Republic of Nicaragua, Huntington Wilson, acting secretary of state, made public his correspondence with the Nicaraguan government, in which he denounced in the severest terms the rebel leader, General Mena, and his atrocities against men, women and children.

There was during the closing days of the last session of congress criticism of the campaign of the state department in Nicaragua.

Accused of Violating Promises.
Describing General Mena and the conditions which brought about intervention Mr. Wilson said to the Nicaraguan government:

"The revolt of General Mena is in flagrant violation of his solemn promises to his own government and to the American minister, and of the Dawson agreement, by which he was solemnly bound, and his attempt to overturn the government of his country for purely selfish purposes and without even the pretense of contending for a principle, makes the present rebellion in origin the most inexcusable in the annals of Central America. The nature and methods of the present disturbances indeed place them in the category of anarchy rather than ordinary revolution.

"The reported character of those who promptly joined Mena, together with his uncivilized and savage action in breaking armistices, maltreating messengers, violating his word of honor, torturing peaceable citizens to exact contributions, and above all, in the ruthless bombardment of the City of Managua, with the deliberate destruction of innocent life and property and the killing of women and children and sick in the hospitals and cruel and barbarous slaughter of hundreds, reported at Leon, give to the Mena revolt the attributes of the abhorrent and intolerable Zelaya regime."

Against Revival of "Zelayism."
Mr. Wilson also reminded Nicaragua of the murder by the Zelaya government of two American citizens—Grace and Cannon—and warned Nicaragua that it would not countenance any revival of Zelayism.

He shows that the planting and banking and industrial interests had appealed to the United States for protection, and that the lives of American diplomats and American men, women and children, private citizens, were actually under fire in Managua.

It is shown in the correspondence that the minister of foreign affairs of Nicaragua asked for the intervention of the United States. That minister said substantially that his government did not have troops enough to protect foreigners, and officially informed Mr. Wilson as follows:

"In consequence, my government desires that the government of the United States guarantee with its forces security for the property of American citizens in Nicaragua, and that they extend this protection to all the inhabitants of the republic."

BIG LAND SUIT FILED

California Business Men Seek to Recover Valuable Oil Fields.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 18.—Lands worth $50,000,000 and approximating 84,000 acres are involved in a suit filed in the United States district court by Attorney T. S. Minot of San Francisco against the Southern Pacific Railroad company and allied corporations. The vast acreage was withdrawn from entry by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and ratified by President Taft on July 2, 1910. The acreage was granted the Southern Pacific by congress July 27, 1866, and under the joint resolution of June 28, 1870. With Attorney Minot are thirty-two other plaintiffs who claim the land, which is located in Fresno and Kern counties, California, by right of placer mining locations and by right of discovery of oil. The complainants are business men and bankers of San Francisco, Fresno, Bakersfield, San Jose and Hanford.

A CHANCE TO WORK.
The Grand Detour Plow company is combing the city for laborers. President W. B. Brinton says they need a dozen or fifteen men at the plant immediately.

UP AGAINST THE HURDLES

MANY CATHOLICS NORTH OF DIXON

THE CENSUS OF PARISH SHOWS LARGE NUMBER LIVE IN NORTH DIXON.

MAY MEAN NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH

Father Considine, Who Has Been Taking the Census, Has Not Disclosed Figures Obtained—Awaits Word From Bishop Muldoon.

Rev. D. J. Considine, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, has completed the Catholic census of the territory north of the river which is connected with St. Patrick's parish, and has reported the result of his enumeration to Bishop Muldoon. Until he has received a reply from the bishop, Father Considine will not be at liberty to disclose the figures which result from his work but he states that the number of Catholic families in the territory is much larger than was expected. The territory takes in Palmyra and north as far as Woosung.

HENRY BURROUGHS FUNERAL WAS TODAY

HUSBAND OF FORMER DIXON GIRL PASSED AWAY SUNDAY IN THE EAST.

The many friends in Dixon were grieved to learn of the death of Henry Burroughs, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dimick of this city. Mr. Burroughs passed away Sunday in Lancaster, Pa., at the age of sixty years.

Beside his many friends and more distant relatives, the death of Mr. Burroughs will be mourned by his wife, formerly Miss Dimick of this city, and their two children.

The funeral took place in Lancaster today.

NEW CANDY STORE.

James Cledon and C. J. Metropoulos have arranged to open an up to date confectionery in the south store room in the new Loftus & O'Connell building on Galena avenue, as soon as the room is ready for occupancy, and Mr. Metropoulos went to Chicago this morning to purchase fixtures and stock for the new business. The gentlemen plan to make it one of the most elaborate institutions of its kind in the northern part of the state.

NEW FURNACE IN BUILDING.

The large hot water furnace that will be installed in the Loveland office building has arrived in the city and will be installed by Robert Nelson.

DIXON TO HAVE GOOD UNION FOOTBALL TEAM

TEAM WILL BE PICKED FROM NORTH AND SOUTH SIDE SCHOOLS.

ELECT OFFICERS THIS AFTERNOON

Captain and Manager to Be Elected at School Meeting Today—Rogers and Bailey to Coach Teams.

A union high school football team in Dixon is assured for this fall, for at a meeting of the boards of control of the two high schools at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon it was decided to have one good team instead of one from each school, and O. M. Rogers and E. T. Bailey have been selected as coaches for the team. A meeting of the football candidates will be held at the south side school building after school this afternoon to elect manager and captain and to formulate plans for the beginning of practice.

BABY GIRL LIED HERE LAST NIGHT

FIVE MONTHS OLD BABY OF BAY CITY, MICH., PARENTS, DIED WHILE VISITING GRANDPARENTS.

Dorothy Evelyn Allen, five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen of Bay City, Mich., died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Craig, 330 W. Chamberlain street, last night. The little one's death occurred during a visit of her mother and babe at the Craig home and because of this feature is especially sad. Mr. and Mrs. Craig are new residents of this city and the bereaved mother and her daughter came here a few weeks ago to visit them. During the visit the illness with which the baby has been afflicted since birth, took a serious turn and despite medical aid she died last night. The circumstances attending the death will therefore bring to the stricken parents the sympathy of the community. The remains were taken to Bay City this afternoon for burial.

VANDALS STEAL CLOTHES.

A pair of pillow cases were stolen from the line at the home of Mrs. A. F. Jones last night and the person who has the clothes has been identified. Mrs. Jones states that if the pillow cases are not returned immediately, the matter will be placed in the hands of the authorities and warrants issued for larceny.

GAME WITH STERLING WILL BE INTERESTING

STARS WILL MEET THEIR RIVALS IN DIXON SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

SCHULTE TO BE REINSTATED

Chance Requests Return of Suspended Player to Cubs, and the Dixon Friends of Miller Wonder if the Change Will Affect Him.

The announcement made yesterday that the Stars and the Sterling West Ends would hook up in a contest at Athletic park next Sunday afternoon has aroused a great deal of interest among the fans, and there certainly will be some crowd out to see the two teams mix. Sterling won the only game the two teams have played together this year, but the victory was decidedly fluky. The Stars themselves have said very little about the manner in which they were beaten, but a large number of Dixon fans who journeyed to Sterling that Sunday to see the game, have expressed themselves in no uncertain terms concerning the deal the Stars got in the neighboring village, and these same fans announce their steadfast belief that the Stars can take the uniforms off the West Ends if they play their usual good game.

Schulte Reinstated.

Local fans and friends of Ward Miller are wondering what effect Chance's request that Schulte be reinstated, which was made just before the Cub manager went onto the operating table in New York for the removal of a blood clot at the base of his brain, will have on Miller's position on the team. When Schulte was suspended by the manager at Cincinnati for "boozing," Miller was given the regular berth in right field. It is certain, however, that Ward will fill the position until the team returns to Chicago, as Schulte was left in that city when the team went east, and he will not be sent to join them.

THE ROSARY DREW A LARGE CROWD

A MOST EXCELLENT PLAY AT THE OPERA HOUSE LAST EVENING.

A crowded and enthusiastic house greeted the Rosary at the opera house last evening and received the wonderful play with a fervor that betokened their appreciation.

The play has been here several times and has been produced by the best of companies each time and therefore the delight displayed last night by the Dixon theatre goers was an excellent recommendation for the company.

Blosser Jennings as Father Brian Kelly, was the central figure of the cast and he was perfect. Every other member of the cast seemed born to take his or her particular part. A thread of clever fun is woven into the rather tragic plot, relieving the strain at pleasant intervals.

SCHWAB TO LEAVE U. S.

Steel Millionaire's Wife Spends Months in Looking for House.

London, Sept. 18.—A rumor is in circulation in London that Charles M. Schwab, the millionaire steel manufacturer, contemplates making his permanent residence in London.

It is learned from a house agency here that supplies homes for American millionaires during the London season that Mrs. Schwab has been in London several times in the past eight months looking at places.

500 CHINESE TROOPS DIE

Soldiers Were Led Into Forests and Burned to Death.

Peking, Sept. 18.—Escape cut off by the flames on all sides, five hundred Chinese soldiers perished in the burning of a forest set afire by Mongol troops retreating from Chatsuan, where they met defeat by 5,000 men commanded by Generals Esih and Tsao. The five hundred pursuing Chinese were led into a forest near Tab-chachu and trapped.

AMBOY IS FLOODED WITH FAIR GOERS

THEY ARE NOT FAIR GOERS, BUT FAST GOERS ON TRACK, THEY SAY.

LEE COUNTY FAIR IS SUCCESS

Many Thousand Persons Visit the Grounds Today in Spite of Cold Weather—Exhibits Way Above the Ordinary and Lee County Is Experiencing Best Fair in Her History.

Amboy, Sept. 18.—Special to Telegraph—8,000 paid admissions was the figure on today's gate receipts at the Lee county fair at Amboy and many more persons went in on season and stockholders tickets, etc. The grounds have been crowded all day in spite of the threatening weather and cold. Families from every township and hundreds of people from surrounding counties were present. 110 tickets were sold to Amboy at the I. C. office in Dixon this forenoon and probably double that number came down in autos, of which there are hundreds parked on the grounds.

The enormous grounds are covered with high grade attractions, and the visitor is fairly bewildered, for he wonders how he can take it all in in one short day.

The exhibits are numerous and especially fine, those from the schools, particularly the North Dixon school, being given deserving prominence. Time is short to attempt to even start on the list of interesting things that may be seen and done here today, tomorrow and the next day. The cooking and fancywork and the vegetable, well rather than get over our heads in this sea of fine things all of which deserve detailed and enthusiastic praise, we will just say—come to Amboy Thursday or Friday and see it all for yourself. We advise you to come Thursday, and then go back and finish it up Friday. See the midway, with its double row of good side shows. Go around and see the mercantile exhibits. It will be a business trip for you as well as a vacation and will mean money in the pocket of him who will take the time to investigate the various propositions that are offered in the way of farm machinery, for instance, and buggies and automobiles and many other things.

Races Are Fine.

Of course one of the feature attractions is the races and this afternoon not a seat is to be had in the large grandstand for almost everyone in the county that could get away today wanted to see what kind of time the speedy blooded horses could make on the new track. And, by the way, the track is more than fulfilling the fondest hopes of the fair directors.

Large Crowd Tomorrow.

It is estimated that tomorrow will be a day that will break all previous records in the matter of crowds for the fame of the success of this year's fair at Amboy has spread with great rapidity. Friday's attendance will undoubtedly be even greater.

WILSON GOES THROUGH TOMORROW

Gov. Woodrow Wilson, who passed through Dixon Monday evening enroute to Sioux City, Ia., will again go through the city, tomorrow morning, on his return to Chicago. His private car will be attached to Northwestern passenger No. 10, which does not stop at Dixon.

IS IN ILL HEALTH.

Miss Mary Rosbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tryon Rosbrook, has been compelled to give up her high school studies this year because of ill health.

DOCTOR GIVES UP PRACTICE HERE

Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Hunt expect soon to go to Seattle, Wash., for the winter. Dr. Hunt will give up his practice here, having sold to a physician in Omaha, Neb., who will take up his residence here soon. The Dixon physician has been known in families in this vicinity for many years as one of the best in his profession.

BENIGN COMBINE, FUNK'S DEFENSE

"Dual Personality" With International Harvester Also a Plea at Federal Hearing.

MILLION HELD IN TRUST

$140,000,000 New Jersey Corporation Pleads "No Interstate Commerce Trade—Company Is a Beneficent Organization."

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Searching examination into the workings of the "dual personality" of the International Harvester company of New Jersey and efforts of Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the company, to prove by figures that competition exists in all departments of the company's business were embraced in the hearing of evidence in the federal suit to dissolve the $140,000,000 corporation.

The "secondary personality" of the New Jersey company is the International Harvester company of America, through which all the products of the former are marketed. The contention that the New Jersey company, which does the manufacturing, does not engage in interstate commerce promises to figure prominently in the trial of the case as a technical defense against the government's charges.

List Harvester Company Products.

Mr. Funk submitted a typewritten list of the harvester company's products, showing the number of competitors in the sale of each. The number ranged from three competitors in the sale of corn pickers, four in corn binders and eight in grain binders, to 103 in the sale of wagons.

R. C. Haskins, president of the International Harvester company of America, told on the witness stand before Special Examiner R. S. Taylor how his company marketed the entire $100,000,000 annual output of the New Jersey company, which does only the manufacturing. The International conducts both the foreign and domestic sales.

The New Jersey corporation, which is the combination of the McCormick, Deering and other manufacturing concerns grouped in the alleged trust, sells all its machines to the International Harvester company of America at the mills, and the latter, the selling company, is merely an instrument in a conspiracy in restraint of trade, according to the government's complaint.

$1,000,000 Capital Held in Trust.

The $1,000,000 capital stock of the America company is held in trust for the stockholders of the New Jersey corporation, of which Cyrus H. McCormick is president.

Besides showing the competitive conditions in the industry, Mr. Funk set out to prove that the International Harvester company is a beneficent organization, working for efficiency and reduction of costs.

BANKER IS SUICIDE

STUNG BY CRITICISM AS RACE PROMOTER KILLS SELF.

George C. Morrison of Baltimore, Asailed as Backer of Havre De Grace Track, Ends Life.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 18.—George C. Morrison, president of the Title Guarantee and Trust company of the city, committed suicide in one of the private rooms at the Baltimore Athletic club. The report to the police says Mr. Morrison ended his life with gas, which he inhaled through a tube.

Mr. Morrison was about forty years old and married. He occupied a conspicuous position in the business and political affairs of Baltimore, and also was prominently interested in horse racing.

He left a note explaining the deed. The coroner took possession of it, and, while refusing to make all of it public at this time, he said the dead man referred to the newspaper publicity given to his interest in the race track at Havre De Grace as one reason for his action.

The suicide came within a few days of accusations made by Governor Goldsborough that Mr. Morrison and other leaders of the business and social life of Harford county had made misrepresentations concerning the Harford county racing bill. In a public statement Governor Goldsborough said that had not he been deceived by the statements of Mr. Morrison and other representative men he would not have signed the bill which allows racing in Harford county.

Mr. Morrison's keen interest in politics had led to his selection as chairman of the Democratic advisory committee for Maryland and to conduct the campaign for Wilson.

EASIER THAN TO EXPLAIN

How the Man Who Had Been on Long Spree Squared Himself at Home.

Congressman Edward W. Townsend of New Jersey, very much in the public eye as the author of "Chimmie Fadden," the other day emerged hurriedly through the swinging doors out of the house, grabbed an acquaintance by the arm and rushed him down through the document room and into the open air.

"What's it all about?" demanded the friend when he got his breath.

"Something tells me that a roll call impends," said Townsend, "and, for a reason I have, I'd like to be reported dead or absent. Either would be easier explained than my vote. Which reminds me of a story.

"A long time ago I worked on a newspaper in Carson City, Nev. There was another fellow on the paper who was a good deal of a rummy and who used to go off on long sprees. One day he disappeared and nothing was heard of him for a month. He just got aboard of a train and started east, and at St. Louis he got a bun, the record of which is still preserved in the archives of the brewery just back of the town. He forgot home and mother and everything else. When he came to at the end of 30 days he felt that he was up against it a bit at home.

"Here," said he, "is a desperate case requiring a desperate remedy." Then he fled him to a telegraph shop and sent this message to his wife:

"I died at 4 o'clock this afternoon. What shall I do with the remains?"

FREE PLEASURES IN LONDON

Finest Music in Churches and Sights That Will Interest The Relic Hunter.

In London there are pleasures to be had for nothing, as was explained to me by a hard-working woman with no money margin for enjoyments. With two feet and a pair of boots she could hear music every evening during Lent from Westminster Abbey to St. Alban's, Holborn, and the church in Soho which rivals the restaurant in attraction. And all for nothing—only she confessed to putting a half-penny into the bag from her own depleted purse. The scientific economist could probably spend a pleasant day in London without spending anything else.

Some London relics have wandered farther afield than the Black Boy of Clement's Inn. Swanage possesses quite an assortment. The entire stone facade of the Mercers' Hall, Cheapside, is to be found in the High street, whether it was moved from London in 1882. Facing the sea is a Gothic clock tower taken bodily from London bridge, where it had been erected as a memorial to the Duke of Wellington. And in several roads about the town may be seen iron street posts, inscribed "St. Ann's Soho," and "St. Martin's-in-the-Field." The explanation is that two quarries from London became paving contractors in London, and patriotically transported to their native town the more picturesque oddments which found their way into their yard.—London Chronicle.

Wily Sexton.

Visitors to the Old North church are shown through the historic old building usually by an elderly man who seems obsessed with a love for the church. His fund of reminiscences is refreshing, and the most interesting thing he recounts is the story of how the lanterns were placed in the belfry.

According to his version of the historic incident, the sexton overheard some English officers talking in the house he lived in, and immediately hung the lanterns. Returning to his room, he saw that his shoes were caked with mud and hid them, replacing them with a dry pair.

The officers, after they learned that a signal had been hung from the belfry, rushed to the room of the sexton, but, finding his shoes dry, became convinced that some one else had hung the lanterns and then locked all the doors of the edifice.—Boston Journal.

Woman as Jail Governor.

Mme. Jenny Porchet, who has charge of the prison at Aigle, in the Canton of Vaud, France, is now 52 years of age, and 31 years ago she married the then prison governor.

At his death the authorities advertised for a successor, and among the applicants was his widow, who had managed the prison during her husband's long illness. Another point in her favor was her physique. In height she wants only an inch of six feet, and possesses the muscles of a wrestler. The prison commission doubted her fitness, but when she offered to try her strength against the most powerful gendarme, all doubts subsided. The prison is said to be the best managed in Switzerland.

There's the Rub.

"Why is it that you are so strongly opposed to extending to women the right to vote?"

"My wife has become a suffragette." "Well, what of it? Do you find that she neglects the children or that she isn't paying enough attention to the business of running the house?"

"No, it's not that. She's become so blamed well informed on public matters that I have to keep busy reading all the time in order to prevent her from finding out my ignorance concerning such things."—Judge.

ALL YOU NEED IS A 25 CENT BOTTLE OF "DANDERINE"—HAIR GETS LUSTROUS, FLUFFY AND ABUNDANT AT ONCE.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it—surely at a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected.

PROF. J. E. COFFMAN OF POLO BUYS GRIMES FARM

Prof. J. E. Coffman of Polo was in town yesterday arranging with our several merchants for the purchase of building and fencing material for the improvement of the large Grimes farm recently sold here, a public auction to the highest bidder.

The farm though somewhat neglected is a good level tract of land about three miles southwest of Lanark in a good neighborhood and we believe has fallen into the right hands, a young man of good habits and extraordinary business faculties who does things not by halves. We remember only a couple of years ago when the Prof. resigned a principality in Ogle Co., took up farming and purchased the large Campbell herd of Hereford cattle which was considered a bold undertaking at that time when cattle were low, but the prevailing price to which beef has since risen proved the wisdom of the investment. The herd is now increased to several hundred. The white faces are as beautiful as well as a valuable breed of cattle for beef. Besides a couple of choice farms near Polo Mr. Coffman now owns 1000 acres of good land in the east part of Carroll county, including the well known Empire Farm near Brookville, sold by the Dr. Emrick estate a year ago, which is noted for having the largest barn in this part of the state and other buildings and natural resources so well suited for the special line of breeding thoroughbred stock. We are glad to welcome Mr. Coffman and his valuable enterprise into our community. Many farmers can now secure stock near at home to improve their herds. It was quite generally conceded that the Herefords of the former millionaire ranchman and banker, John T. Campbell, of Forreston, were second to none in this part of the United States.—Lanark Gazette.

Here's congratulations to our friend, J. E.—(Editor).

Miss Louise Fuller is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell.

FACE DISGRACEFUL WITH RASH

Large Scabs Would Form, Fester and Break, Itching and Burning, Kept from Sleeping, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—"My trouble of skin disease started merely as a rash on my face and neck, but it grew and kept getting worse until large scabs would form, fester and break. This was just on the one side of my face, but it soon scattered to the other side. I suffered a great deal especially at night on account of its itching and burning. I would scratch it and of course that irritated it very much. This rash was on my face for about two years sometimes breaking out lots worse and forming larger sores. It kept me from sleeping day or night for a couple of months. My face looked disgraceful, and I was almost ashamed to be seen by my friends.

"A friend asked me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I would bathe my face with hot water and a lot of Cuticura Soap, then I would put on the Cuticura Ointment. In less than two days' time, the soreness and inflammation had almost entirely disappeared, and in four weeks' time you could not see any of the rash. Now my face is without a spot of any kind. I also use them for my scalp and hair. They cured me completely." (Signed) Miss Ransy Hutchins, Feb. 6, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

22-Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

MONEY BACK CATARRH REMEDY

Dosing the stomach won't kill Catarrh germs. Neither will sprays, douches, snuffs or ointments.

The quickest way to kill germs is to breathe deep into the lungs the vaporized air of Booth's HYOMEI.

As this antiseptic air passes over the sore spots infested with catarrh germs, it not only destroys them, but heals the inflamed membrane and stops the discharge of mucus.

Then hawking, spitting, snuffling, crusts in nose and foul breath will disappear, and vile, disgusting Catarrh will be conquered.

A complete HYOMEI outfit, which includes a hard rubber inhaler, only costs $1.00. Extra bottles, if afterwards needed, 50c; and Rowland Bros. are authorized to refund your money if dissatisfied.

Be supplied with calling cards. Our new samples are ready for inspection. Engraved or printed, B. F. Shaw Ptg. Co.

It is said there are some people who can print everything they know on a postage stamp, using display type, and then not even cancel the stamp.

Patrons of the Northwestern will do well not to mention plums in the presence of young Mr. Reilly, the genial and accommodating night bag gageman. Mr. R. encountered a plum the other evening and proceeded to eat it. He evidently forgot that the plums have stones, for he swallowed the whole works and the stone stuck in his throat. He performed some very clever acrobatic stunts while getting rid of that plum stone, and of course does not like to be chided for it.

Isn't it strange? When you were a boy you bragged a great deal on what you were going to do when you grew up and now that you're a man you are continually telling about the things you did when you were a boy.

SURELY TAKE "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

Sweetens Your Stomach, Clears Your Head and Thoroughly Cleanses Your Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels of Sour Bile, Foul Gases and Clogged-Up Waste.

All these days when you feel miserable, headachy, bilious and dull are due to torpid liver and sluggish bowels. The days when your stomach is sour and full of gas, when you have indigestion; the nights when your nerves twitch and you are restless and can't sleep could be avoided with a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs. Isn't it foolish to be distressed when there is such a pleasant way to overcome it?

Give your inactive liver and ten yards of waste-clogged bowels a thorough cleansing this time. Put an end to constipation.

Take a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs tonight, sure, and just see for yourself by morning, how gently but thoroughly all the sour bile, undigested fermenting food and clogged up waste matter is moved on and out of your system—No nausea—no griping—no weakness.

You simply can't have your liver inactive and your thirty feet of bowels constipated with sour, decaying waste matter and feel well. The need of a laxative is a natural need, but with delicious Syrup of Figs you are not drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna aromatics it cannot injure.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with scorn, any of these-called Fig Syrup imitations. They are meant to deceive you. Look on the label. The genuine, old reliable, bears the name, California Fig Syrup Company.

Presentation

The TELEGRAPH herewith presents an opportunity unequalled in the history of publishing. It is one of a syndicate of newspapers which have inaugurated a great educational campaign of national scope. This NEW dictionary has been agreed upon as the means of carrying out the plans, as it meets every requirement. It is the LATEST dictionary of the English language; it is of convenient size; it is the BEST dictionary of the kind published; and it is NOT sold at stores, as these newspapers have arranged to take the entire output. Thus we are enabled to give our readers the benefit, as is shown in this announcement. Read every word of the following, and lose no time in taking advantage of this great opportunity.

THIS ILLUSTRATES THE $4.00 BOOK—EXACT SIZE

The Dictionary is not published by the original publishers of Webster's Dictionary or by their successors. It has been revised and brought up to the PRESENT DATE in accordance with the best authorities from the greatest universities, and is published by the well known SYNDICATE PUBLISHING CO. of N. Y.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

The New Websterian supplies the popular demand for a Reliable and Convenient dictionary of the English language. The highest authorities have been consulted and eminent specialists have been brought together to make this book accurate and Complete in all respects.

While based upon the original work of Noah Webster, it is brought up to the present in every particular. All pronunciations are modern and are plainly indicated by phonetic spelling; the definitions are comprehensive, though concise; the type is large and clear; each page carries a running key-word which shows the last word defined on that particular page, thus avoiding the use of a cumbersome thumb index; instead of meaningless text pictures, the entire work is profusely illustrated with full-page color plates, monotypes and photograph charts; following the dictionary proper is a Reference Library, which in itself is a complete treasury of facts for everyday use.

The world's greatest authorities in the English language are to be found in American universities and colleges, and from these sources came the knowledge set forth in the New Websterian. The editor-in-chief, Prof. Harry Thurston Peck, Ph. D., Litt. D., LL. D., has long been recognized as the foremost lexicographer and authority on languages and literature. Among the editorial contributors are Albert Stanburroughs, Ph. D., LL. D., professor at Yale University; John C. Rolfe, Ph. D., professor in the University of Pennsylvania and President of the American Philological Association; Prof. Theodore W. Koch, Ph. D., D. Sc., of the University of Michigan; Prof. Charles F. Johnson, A. M., Ph. D., of Trinity College; Prof. Donald L. Clark, A. B., of De Pauw University; John S. P. Tatlock, Ph. D., professor in the University of Michigan, and J. A. Joffe, A. M., consulting expert to the Congressional Library at Washington, D. C. A collection of 10,000 Synonyms and Antonyms has been arranged by Lillian H. Du Bois, instructor in the Wharton Combined School of Philadelphia. Other important sections are ably edited by Prof. Frederick Taber Cooper, LL.B., Ph. D.; Prof. Robert Arrowsmith, Ph. D.; Prof. C. L. Meader, Ph. D., and Robert Gordon Grant, A. M., Ph. D. Such an array of efficient authorities never before came together, and the grand result is a Perfect dictionary of the English language.

NEWEST THING IS AUTOMATIC LOCKER

DROP YOUR COIN AND GET A KEY TO STEEL LOCKER FOR PARCELS.

E. E. DOWNS IS INTERESTED

Former Manager of Electric Road Here Will Install Device in Illinois—Invention Has Proven Its Value in California.

The latest automatic device that will appeal generally to the traveling public has recently been invented by W. S. Farnsworth of Pataluma, Cal., in the form of a self-checking, coin-controlled parcel locker.

Its great value as a time saver and convenience was at once realized as being superior to any present system in use, and a corporation was formed to place it at the disposal of the California public. After having been in operation eighteen months in competition with other means of checking, the coin-controlled locker has been proven an eminent success, earning from four hundred to six hundred per cent on the capital invested. In the several California cities where it has been in operation it is so well thought of by the traveling public and railroad officials that the immense and powerful Southern Pacific Railroad system has adopted it for exclusive use in all their railway terminals, depots, amusement parks and other places. It was then decided that to branch out and give other states the opportunity to better serve their traveling public was the generous thing to do.

There is always a reason for everything, and so there was a reason for Illinois being chosen the second state to adopt the coin-controlled locker.

Mr. Geo. P. McNear of Pataluma, Cal., as well known to the San Francisco financial world as the Armours and McCormicks of Chicago, or the Goulds and Vanderbilts of New York, is the financial head of this company, and as he has been for many years an earnest believer in the business ability of Mr. E. E. Downs, recently of Dixon, Mr. McNear at once turned to his old time friend to form a company in Illinois, which is conceded to be the key state of the union.

The Coin Controlled locker is particularly adapted to depots, hotels, steamboat landings, elevated stations, public garages, theatres and in fact anywhere that people may congregate, and its simplicity is its greatest endorsement.

A parcel locker in a pressed steel group of sixteen compartments, representing convenience, economy and safety, the important features of which are a key and a lock controlled by coin.

When a compartment is not in use the door is slightly ajar, with the key securely locked in the lock—by inserting a coin in the slot or chute, forms a contact between the key and lock which without this contact the key or lock will not operate. Placing a parcel within the compartment and the coin dropped in the slot, the key readily turns in the lock, and is taken out and becomes a check, being numbered identically with the number of the compartment, and is individual, fitting only its own compartment.

It is more safe, in that articles do not have to be handled by attendants, who are human and make mistakes.

It frequently happens that articles checked under the present system, through error or loss of check, are given to the wrong person. This cannot occur in Parcel Lockers, and one may feel perfectly secure that valuables will remain undisturbed until they are required.

In case that a key is lost, a master key which unlocks all compartments relieves one of any anxiety or embarrassment, upon the description of parcels contained, and the lock is then changed and a different key re-instated.

There are many other very interesting features of the Coin Controlled locker which are not stated, and it has been said by the deepest students of the locker that there is not one weak point in its construction nor the method of its operation. It will be introduced in Chicago during the fall or early winter, and made ready to take care of the Christmas shopping.

AUTOMATIC DEVICES IN GERMANY

Automatic devices of every description have supplanted small tradesmen and little shops to a great extent in Germany. Germany might almost be called the "land of the automat." Furthermore, these devices are popular. At all postoffices stamps and post cards are sold by automatic machines; at the railway stations, platform tickets and suburban tickets are sold by automats; automat restaurants, where one can secure a glass of wine or liquor, a sandwich, square meal, cup of coffee, chocolate, etc., by dropping a coin in the slot, abound everywhere. Every city of from 15,000 to 20,000 population and over has from one to several hundred such restaurants. At railway stations automats sell chocolate, candy, picture post card, and even a little kit of first aid to the injured, containing a few drops of pain killer, bandage, needle, thread, etc. Ten pfennigs in a slot opens the doors of toilet compartments, delivering a towel or piece of soap. A coin in a slot obtains a cigar, a tune from a mechanical music box, a pair of shoe strings, a collar button, a visiting card, name plate for suit case, tells one's fortune, or weighs, etc.

JOHN A. HOWLAND.

SOME EXCITING RACES.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows Are Featuring, as in Former Years.

During the history of the Great Wallace Shows that enterprise was noted for putting on the most intensely realistic racing in its hippodrome contests that were ever witnessed under canvas. B. E. Wallace, referred to by his intimates as "the Hoosier Showman" was always fond of fine horses and especially those of the speed ring. Every horse of the 400 used by these shows is purchased personally by Mr. Wallace, most of them being bought on the horse markets of the big cities of Missouri, Iowa or Kentucky.

When the Carl Hagenbeck Trained Animal Shows were combined with the Great Wallace Show, it was feared that it might be necessary to shorten the circus program on account of the many acts given by the wild beasts. When it was suggested that the hippodrome races be cut out Mr. Wallace was up in arms. To him that is the best part of the show and since he has taken an interest in the racing contests and puts on the hippodrome in a manner that distinguishes the races from the forces of racing with other shows, Mr. Wallace said the hippodrome would not only be continued but he would have even better racing than heretofore. By a great deal of scheming the combination of two performances has been secured without losing any feature.

By means of cash prizes to the lady and gentleman winning most of the races during the week, the show has caused a real rivalry to exist between the contestants, and though

EDUCATES EVERYONE EVERY DAY

THE TELEGRAPH HAS INAUGURATED A MOST UNIQUE INSTRUCTION PLAN

The Knowledge That You Need Every Day and Every Hour in One Book of Reasonable Size.

Employers and educators of Dixon agree that the most lamentable lack of learning with which they have to contend is the prevailing ignorance of the correct use of the English language. The means to effectively remedy this deplorable condition has been a pedagogic puzzle. The Telegraph believes that it offers its readers today the solution in commencing the distribution of the best educational work ever embodied in one volume of convenient size, the New Websterian 1912 Dictionary, Illustrated.

Libraries of many volumes, universities of many departments, schools, colleges, and classes and all the educational army and impedimenta, are of no use to the average person who can not or will not go to them when information or instruction is required, but The Telegraph offers a comprehensive course of at-the-elbow education to everyone.

The knowledge that you need every day and every hour is brought to you in one book of reasonable size to which you can readily refer without moving from your chair or desk. Gradually you will acquire more and more learning without being aware that any effort is being expended. A vast fund of information will always be at your elbow.

The Telegraph is confident that the intelligent clientele made up of the patrons of this paper will eagerly grasp this opportunity, and so has secured the entire limited edition of this unique work just issued.

A glance at this book will convince you that the proposition is worthy of investigation, for it is no ordinary volume, bound as it is in black, limp leather, it looks like a Bible. Open the covers and you find that the book is profusely illustrated, and that each word defined stands out in black-face type, making it easy to find what you want when you want it.

This dictionary is NOT published by the original publishers of Webster's Dictionary or by their successors.

It has been revised and brought up to the present date in accordance with the greatest authorities from leading universities, Dr. Harry Thurston Peck being its Editor in Chief. It contains all the words of the English language that are not peculiarly appropriate to a dictionary of technical terms. The spelling and pronunciation of plurals are given, and the use of capitals and small letters. The book gives the past tense and participles of all verbs not regularly formed by the addition of "d," "ed," and "ing." The pronunciation of each word is plainly indicated by phonetic spelling, and the definitions are presented in a most comprehensive yet concise, accurate and reliable manner.

As a preface to the dictionary proper is a treatise on abbreviations of the parts of speech and their grammatical composition and derivation. As a means of promoting the correctness of speech, both spoken and written, an analysis of the "Principles of Grammar" is given. The rules adopted by the Simplified Spelling Board are given under the head of words spelled in two ways, of which the Board of Simplified Spelling, recommends the simpler spelling. There is also a complete key to pronunciation, which is invaluable to one who would speak the language properly.

Every new word recently coined and adopted by custom has been included. For example, the word, "Osterize," taken from Prof. Osler, who would chloroform people at the age of 45, when, according to his theory, they have outlived their usefulness. Also there are aviator and biplane and brainstorm and stovaine and taxicab and equilibrators, all of which have recently come into use by stress of necessity.

The illustrations are the most complete, elaborate and expensive that have ever appeared in a dictionary. They include colored and monotype plates and colored charts. The dictionary is printed on strong Bible paper from new plates. An important feature is the large type.

If you would enrich your vocabulary, this is the book for you to get.

It includes proverbs and colloquial expressions, foreign words and phrases, christian names of men and women, the metric system of weights and measures, the value of foreign coins in the United States, time differences all over the world, the electoral vote, the latest census of the United States, language of flowers and gems, the origin and meaning of the names of states, commercial and legal terms, famous characters, decisive battles of the world's history, and in fact, nothing seems to have been overlooked.

The dictionary is in three styles of binding, and all are included in the offer made through The Telegraph.

No. 1 is a beautiful book bound in full limp leather, flexible and stamped in gold on back and sides. It is printed on strong Bible paper with red edges and with rounded corners. It makes a handsome appearance and is durable. This book would ornament any library or desk. It is compact and small enough not to be cumbersome.

No. 2 is the same book as No. 1 except in style of binding. It is in half leather, with olive edges and square corners.

No. 3 is bound in plain cloth. It is printed on the same paper, but does not contain the beautiful colored plates and charts which illustrate the other two volumes. It is complete as to contents.

Everybody needs and should have this latest dictionary. Read the coupon to be found on another page of this issue and clip it today.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS--CASCARETS

NO BILIOUSNESS, HEADACHE, SICK, SOUR, STOMACH, INDIGESTION, COATED TONGUE, OR CONSTIPATION

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Dramatic Notes

THE MME. BERNHARDT AND MME. REJANE PHOTO PLAYS

Bernhardt by playing "Camille" for universal reproduction as a motion play has glorified the motion play and raised it to a commanding position beside the living stage of stars. When the greatest actress of the world was first asked to play before the camera she regarded it as a condescension to accede, but after the revelation of the pictures in the studio and the applause of the Parisian critics she, with characteristic enthusiasm, cried out to the director of the Comedie Francaise, the house of Moliere, where she won her first laurels:

"I rely on these films for immortality; I live in hope of recording my entire repertoire for these marvelous productions."

And Rostand, the first literary and dramatic genius of France, who wrote "L'Aiglon" for Bernhardt, turned to her after seeing the photo play and exclaimed:

"Madame, you have ennobled the film."

Bernhardt herself is now a fiery champion of the photoplay; it was after long thought and many visits to studios that she consented to co-operate with the camera and conquer the new world of motion picture photography. She now reigns queen of both living and still pictures. These wonderful reels reveal her genius to the millions who, craving a sight of the incomparable artiste, have yet been unable to see her on the sensational, immensely costly tours which have carried her all over the frontier and made her the most famous woman in this world.

Her picture Camille burns into the imagination.

All the passion of the soul is spelled by the eloquent body of Bernhardt, Camille lives.

Consider—Bernhardt has reigned for years the undisputed sovereign of the stage; history offers no parallel to her popularity. As late as this winter London went mad over her Camille. The critics deplored the weakness of their adjectives. So immense was her drawing power that for playing the last scene of Camille alone she was paid $10,000 a week. Think, then what it means to have Camille incarnated by Bernhardt in motion pictures.

Ever since the beginning of the motion picture art, it has been the dream of studios to have Bernhardt for a subject. For years she resisted gold and entreaties. She consented only when convinced that the projection would be worthy of her glorious self. This most perfect of motion pictures is followed by another work of art, that of Mme. Rejane and original company in "Mme. Sans-Gene." Both plays will be presented at the opera house for two days and daily matinees, Saturday and Sunday, Sep. 21-22.

CHAPTER XXII.

In the Pilot House.

Cayley had been right in assuming, as he did in his conversation with Jeanne, upon the subject, that Roscoe and the other people of the Walrus had never noticed the ice chimney, nor suspected the existence of the pilot house upon the cliff-head. Also, he had followed correctly the track of Roscoe's mind in the deduction that the two latest castaways upon this land—that is, Philip and Jeanne—must have perished in the great storm which began on the night when he fired the hut, and continued for so many weeks that he, like them, lost all trace of reckoning.

During the storm he had lived in the cave, much as Philip and Jeanne had lived in the pilot house on the cliff; he had, that is to say, in some purely automatic fashion, kept on existing. The mere momentum of a mature man's vitality makes it hard for him to die. But when the storm abated and milder weather came, he bestirred himself, as Cayley did, and set about digging a tunnel of his own through the great drift which had blocked the entrance to the cave.

The next time the moon came up, after he had completed the tunnel from the cave, he set out down the beach toward the ruins of the hut.

It was not mere curiosity which attracted him, nor any lurking fear, but simply the hope of making some salvage from the wreckage of the hut, or possibly, from the bodies of his two victims, in case he was lucky enough to find them. He had no doubt at all that they were dead.

His pleasure over the quantity and condition of the stores he found in the ice cave compensated for his disappointment over not finding the bodies of his two latest victims.

Evidently they had not even attempted to use such shelter as the ice chamber afforded, for it showed no mark of human habitation at all. They had probably wandered outside and died in one of the near-by drifts. Perhaps he would find them some day. For the present, however, the stores occupied his whole attention.

Very methodically he set to work, carrying them off to his own cave, working without fatigue and without intermission—working so long as the moonlight lasted.

He was just setting out with his last load when, glancing skyward to see how long the light would hold, he caught a glimpse of Cayley on the wing. The sight occasioned him no return—not even momentary—of the old terror. He cursed a little because he had not his rifle with him; the sky-man soaring slowly and not very high, presented a mark he could almost certainly have hit.

It was surprising, of course, to see him alive, but Roscoe, in his present state, never thought of looking to supernatural means to account for the fact. Indeed, he was hardly more than a moment in approximating the true explanation. There might well be, he supposed, up somewhere in the face of the cliff a cave, or shelter, of which he knew nothing, and easily accessible to anyone who happened to possess a flying machine.

Skirting the cliff and keeping well in its shadow, he made his way with his last load, back to his cave. Here he spent a few minutes cleaning his rifle, making sure that the mechanism of the breech was working perfectly, and filling its magazine full of cartridges.

The moon was just setting, but the sky was still bright enough to give him a good hope of making out Cayley's winged figure against it.

Roscoe squatted down in the lee of the great hummock of ice, surveyed the heavens with keen, practised eyes, munched on a strip of dried walrus-meat which he had brought with him and waited very contentedly.

He had not long to wait. Long before the moon twilight had gone out of the sky he saw in it silhouetted against it, the sight from which he had once fled with such mad terror—the broad expanse of the sky-man's wings.

Instead of firing, he scrambled up to the top of the nearest ice hummock and from there watched Cayley's flight to his landing place.

He laughed aloud when he saw that it was not in the side of the cliff, as he had feared, but quite at the crest of it—where it was as accessible to a man who could climb a bit as to one with wings.

He did not move from his attitude of strained attention, on the summit of a little ice hill, until he saw a faint glow of golden light diffusing itself from the mouth of the tunnel that led to the pilot house. Then, with that queer shuffling gait of his, which was neither walk nor run, he began making his way inshore, over the ice, toward the foot of the cliff.

Cayley's tunnel was not at right angles to the crest, but bore off diagonally westward. Roscoe had noted this fact, and he figured it out from the top of the promontory, which formed the western boundary of their strip of beach, he should be able to command a view straight into the tunnel. Also, there was at this point a precipitous trail up the cliff. No one but Roscoe would have called it a trail, but that was the way it existed in his mind.

His calculation of the angle of the tunnel proved to be correct, for from his newly-gained vantage, he could see straight into the pilot house and make out clearly enough two figures there.

Once more he was tempted to fire, and might have yielded to the temptatation had not the light been put out before he had fairly got his eyes adjusted to the distance.

Watched Cayley's Flight to His Landing Place.

It is to be remembered, always, that he knew nothing whatever of the ice chimney, and suspected no connection between the hut and the pilot house, except by the air. For anything he knew to the contrary, Jeanne might be able to fly, as well as Philip, or he to carry her with him upon his flights. Consequently, he did not suspect, when he saw Cayley take to flight again, that this action had any reference to himself; nor that the woman who was left alone would be on her guard against him.

The moment he glimpsed the shadow of Cayley's wings against the stars he began making his way, cautiously, over the crusted snow, toward the pilot house. The door was closed, but there was a light shining out through a crack beneath it. It was a glass door, but something had been hung over the glass so that he could not see into the interior.

Both Jeanne and Philip had made the mistake of assuming that the only way of access to the pilot house, except to Philip with his wings, was the ice chimney. It was a natural mistake enough—one that almost any but a practised mountaineer would have made.

Furthermore they had no reason—either of them—for anticipating an attack upon the pilot house while Philip was gone. They had been living here, now for weeks, in unbroken security. So, though the girl obeyed Philip's injunction literally and scrupulously, she did it without the slightest sense of personal danger, and indeed she would hardly have had room for such an emotion even if there had been a much more reasonable ground for it.

She was sitting beside the oil stove, in one of the farther corners of the room. The chimney hole was in the corresponding corner. The revolver lay on the table in the middle of the room, a few paces behind her. The pilot house door was directly in line with it, and almost exactly behind her back. The door was hinged to swing inward.

When it burst open she attributed the fact to no other agency than the wind. She laid down the red-bound book upon the bench beside her and rose, rather deliberately, before she turned round.

As she did so Roscoe sprang forward to the table and seized the revolver. Her failure to turn immediately had given him the second he needed to take in the strategic possibilities of the room.

His rifle was a clumsy weapon in close quarters. So, as he sprang forward, he dropped it and made for the revolver instead. It only needed a glance at the girl to convince him that she was unarmed. Quite deliberately he broke open the breech of the revolver and satisfied himself that it was loaded. Then he looked up again, blinking at the girl.

It was no wonder that Carlson and Rose had mistaken her for the ghost of the man their leader murdered. She looked like her father as a woman may resemble a man, and her whiteness, her fineness, her delicacy all increased rather than diminished the credibility of the idea that she was in fact his spirit.

The hand which held the revolver dropped nervously at his side. He swallowed hard, and wrung his cruel lips with his other great hand. It was then that the girl looked up into his face. It was then she uttered her first cry.

For she saw that he did not mean to kill her.

Suddenly Jeanne's eyes detached themselves from his face. A look of sudden alarm came into them, and she raised her hand to her throat, as though she were choking. She was looking past Roscoe, and straight down the snow tunnel.

"Philip!" she cried, "take care; he's here."

The snow tunnel was empty, and for aught she knew, her lover's body might be lying mangled in the monster's cave. She had thought of that before she tried the trick. But, even if that were so, that cry of hers might lead the monster to steal one uneasy glance at the door behind him; and even that would give her time enough, if he had not killed Philip, but simply eluded him, he would turn instantly.

That was what he did. He sprang round with a suddenness which bespoke a perfectly genuine, common-sense alarm. And then he found himself in darkness.

He understood at once that he had been tricked. Without wasting the time to turn back and look at Jeanne, he sprang toward the pilot house door. He thought she meant to attempt to rush by him, gain the snow-tunnel and throw herself over the crest of the cliff. He had not misread the sudden loathing he had seen in her eyes when they met his face.

In the open doorway he wheeled round, triumphantly. She had not got ahead of him that time. He laughed aloud into the darkness, and then spoke to her, with a vile, jocular familiarity.

But he got no answer, in words or otherwise. There was no outcry, no stifled sobbing. Nothing at all but sigh and whine of the wind.

He moved forward, groping in the dark, but stopped when he felt the pressure of the table across his thighs. He could do nothing without a light. He would re-light the candle, first of all, and then he would find her.

He took a bit of flint, a nail and a rope of tow from his pocket. He struck a spark, but it failed to kindle the tow.

It was at that instant that Philip alighted.

Philip sprang clear of his planes, left them as they were there at the tunnel mouth, and walked steadily up toward the pilot house door.

Roscoe, on hearing his voice the first time, had dropped the articles which encumbered his hands and groped on the table for the revolver. Before he could put his hand on it Cayley spoke the second time.

At that, wanting no weapon, confident that he needed none, his great arms aching for the feel of the sky-man's flesh beneath their grasp, he moved a step nearer the door and waited.

He saw Philip cross the threshold, unseeing—suspecting, apparently, nothing; saw him, at last, within hand's reach.

Just as he touched him he uttered a sobbing oath, and his great hand faltered, for Philip's knife had struck through, clean to the hilt, and just below the heart.

The effect of the shock was only momentary. With a yell of rage, he sprang upon Cayley, crowded him back against the wall, tore at him blindly, like a wild beast, and finally getting Philip's right fore-arm fairly in the grip of both hands, he snapped it like a pipestem.

In a moment Cayley got round behind him and with the crook of his good arm round Roscoe's neck, he succeeded in forcing him to release his grip and in throwing him heavily.

As he lay, his body projected through the doorway, out into the tunnel.

Philip left him huddled there, and went back to the table. He found Roscoe's flint and steel beneath his hand; but it was a full minute before he could summon his courage to strike a light, for the inferences from Roscoe's presence here in the pilot house began to crowd upon him now, grim and horrible. But he struck a spark at last, lighted a candle and looked around.

The reaction of relief turned him, for a moment, giddy, as the glance about the room convinced him that what he feared worst had not happened. But another thought occurred to him, almost at once, when he saw the cover had been removed from the top of the ice chimney.

In his mind, of course, that represented the way Roscoe had come. What, if Jeanne, unable for some reason to defend herself, had chosen, as the lesser evil, to fling herself over the cliff from the tunnel mouth?

The moment he thought of that he went out into the tunnel, stepping over

Went Down Together.

Roscoe's body to do so. He went to the edge and looked over, but it was too dark to see. The light of the aurora which still blazed in the sky, dazzled his eyes, without lighting the surface of the world below.

He must go down there, in order to be sure. He had not stopped to furl his planes when he alighted, and they had wedged themselves sideways into the tunnel, still extended and so ready for flight in an emergency.

He righted them and slipped his arms through the loops that awaited them. He stood for a moment, testing the right wing tentatively. There was a play about it that he did not understand. So far as he could see nothing was broken. The fact that it was his own arm did not occur to him.

He was just turning to dive off the cliff-head when, suddenly, he saw the great form of the man he had supposed to be dead, rise and rush upon him.

Philip's knife had, indeed, inflicted a mortal wound, but a man of Roscoe's physique lets go of life slowly. He was bleeding to death, internally, but the process was, probably, retarded by his huddled position as he lay there in the tunnel.

So he had lain still and awaited his chance. Cayley was standing quite at the edge of the cliff, and the man's momentum carried him over. His clutching hands grasped Cayley's shoulders, and they went down together, over 600 feet of empty space.

For Cayley the space was all too little. As they went over he thought that he and his gigantic enemy were going down to death together. Instinctively, and much quicker than a man can think, he swept his great-fatal forward and flung himself back in an attempt to correct the balance destroyed by the great weight that was clinging to his shoulders.

They were, of course, bound to go down. Neither his strength nor the area of his planes was sufficient to support them both in the air. But in the position into which he had flung himself they would go down a little more slowly. He would gain, perhaps, a precious second more.

But he did not waste even an infinitesimal moment in any struggle against the force of gravity.

Twice, with all his might, he sent his left fist crashing against the face, the staring, livid face, that confronted his own. But still that convulsive, dying grasp held fast.

They were now more than a bare 200 feet above the ice. With a supreme effort, an effort whose suddenness availed it better than its strength, he wrenched himself free and the great weight dropped off. Another effort, the instantaneous exertion of every ounce of force he possessed, corrected the sudden change of balance and prevented him from falling, like the great, inert mass he had just cast off.

Trembling, exhausted, he managed to blunder around in a half-circle, slanted down inland and stumbled to a landing on the beach, not 50 yards from the ice-clad ruins of the hut.

As he did so, the thought was in his mind that during his struggle in the air with Roscoe, he had heard a cry, which neither he nor his antagonist had uttered.

The perception came to him as a memory, and in memory it seemed to be Jeanne's voice.

Now, unless his wits were wandering, he heard it again, and it called his name. He was half incredulous of its reality, even as he answered it. But the next moment, before he could extricate himself from his planes, or even attempt to get to his feet, he felt the pressure of her body, as she knelt over him.

BOUGHT HIS SOCKS IN SCOTLAND.

Governor Wilson is a free trader and is so recognized by the rank and file of his party. The truth is emphasized a little by the fact that he buys his socks in Scotland.

His apparent indifference to the condition of American laborers may be due to his ability to get along without being obliged to eat bread in the sweat of his brow.

He has been extremely fortunate in this respect. His autonomy has been deeply tinged with aristocracy during his entire career as an educator and dabbler in literature.

He has neither by personal experience or observation acquainted himself with the actual struggles and needs of the ordinary wage earner.

During the trying times that this country was under the blight of free trade in 1894, '95 and '96, Woodrow Wilson was enjoying a liberal income that was in no degree affected by the deplorable conditions surrounding the laborers in this country.

Mr. Wilson is not to be condemned for his good fortune. On the contrary, we should be disposed to congratulate him, but in self interest the less fortunate should protect themselves against the enforcement of his tariff theories and policy, a trial of which has been given more than once with deplorable effect upon the industrial life of this country.—Trenton Gazette.

HONOR DEAD SAILORS

Impressive Funeral Given Victims of Lake Tragedy.

Following the Services Bodies of Youths Are Sent Home to Parents.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Full military honors were accorded to six of the victims of Sunday's tragedy in Lake Michigan, in which one officer and ten apprentice seamen of the United States naval training school at North Chicago lost their lives. The scene in the spacious grounds in which the funeral ceremony was held was impressive. It was witnessed by only a few persons, yet all the dignity of the military service was present. Preceding the military cortege, short church services were held.

Following these services, six hearses bearing the bodies lined up in the military funeral procession. Then the cortege moved slowly along its half mile march to the gates of the grounds.

First came the naval school band, and throughout the march it played Chopin's funeral march. Then followed in line the firing squad, the color guard, the members of the clergy, the bodies and body bearers and a full company of apprentice seamen in arms.

At the gates, where the spectators had gathered, the procession came to a halt. The caskets, each draped in an American flag, were taken from the hearses and placed side by side in the roadway. Then Chaplain Thomson offered a short prayer.

As the prayer ended there was a sharp command of "Attention!" The firing squad of eight men took its position at one side of the six caskets and three volleys were fired over the dead. Then the band filled the air with the soft strains of "Abide With Me" as the caskets were replaced in the hearses.

The ceremony was in charge of Lieut. Com. Wilbur J. Smith. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bodies were taken to the station of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad at North Chicago on the 12:45 p. m. train, thence to be sent to the various homes.

AUTO CRASH HURTS TWO

Visiting German Delegates to Hygiene Meet Are Injured.

New York, Sept. 18.—An accident to the brake of a taxicab, the foremost one of a string of sixty motor vehicles in which the German delegates to the hygiene conference, and their families, were being shown about the city, resulted in the injury of two of the visiting physicians. The mishap occurred on the steep down grade of One Hundred and Eighty-first street, heading from Washington Heights to Riverside drive.

One of the injured is Doctor Muod of Vienna. The names of the others are not known.

ZINC MAGNATE IS DEAD

W. A. Jones Was Long Prominent in Wisconsin Politics.

Dodgeville, Wis., Sept. 18.—W. A. Jones of Mineral Point died suddenly at his home in that city. Mr. Jones had been associated with the New Jersey Zinc company for many years and was general manager of the Mineral Point Zinc works, the second largest plant in the world. He was appointed United States commissioner of Indian affairs by President McKinley, but resigned after Roosevelt became president.

GAYNOR SUED FOR LIBEL

Gotham Alderman Asks $100,000 Damages From Executive.

New York, Sept. 18.—Mayor Gaynor was served with a summons in a $100,000 libel suit brought against him by Alderman Curran, chairman of the aldermanic committee investigating graft in the police department. Curran alleges that the mayor made remarks derogatory to his character in connection with the investigation.

PLAN TO FIGHT MOSQUITOES

Colonel Gorgas Advising Improved Methods of Combating Pest in Canal Zone.

Soldiers of the regular army who are in the canal zone or are to go there for the purpose of defending the fortifications will be pleased to know that experiments are going on now with a kind of fortification that has to do especially with the health of that region. Col. William C. Gorgas, medical corps, U. S. A., chief sanitary officer, has worked out a scheme for a permanent lining of ditches which will make them proof against the breeding activities of the mosquito. Having found that by controlling the incubation of insects, the fever situation was always kept in hand, the zone sanitary department turned its attention to the ditches which are so fertile a place for the production of mosquitoes, and the idea was hit upon of lining or "fortifying" them against the mosquito. So now there is being tried a Gatun new scheme for permanent ditch lining with concrete blocks, made of a mixture of sand, cement and cinders. After a while there will be no chance for the poor mosquito at all in the zone. The army sanitarians are now making tests to ascertain the effect of wind upon the travels of the insect, both against and with the prevailing air currents, and it is thought that approximate or exact data along that line will have a marked effect upon the cost of anti-malaria work. No data are available to show that the anopheles, or malaria insects, are blown by the wind or travel with it.—Army and Navy Journal.

WIGWAM HAS PASSED AWAY

Indians in Canada Now Make Use of Canvas Tents and Iron Stoves.

A novelist would find a veritable mine of data for stories of the severe life in the woods among any of the northern Indian tribes. During my stay among the Montagnais at Lake St. John two families descended from their winter hunting grounds to the post, being forced on the way to both their mocassins and peltries for soup to avoid starvation. Yet these same people were strong enough to travel and attend to the necessities of their camp. Within five days they returned again to the forest.

The canvas tents, which have entirely replaced the native birch bark wigwams, came into general use about twenty-five years ago. The first Indians to introduce them set up their tents and made camp in the space of an hour without having to cut the numerous wigwam poles or dig away the snow underneath, while the old bark lodge required the snow to be cleared to the ground on account of the fire in the center, the whole task consuming about two and one-half hours. The box iron stoves heat the tents very well and consume less wood than the open fires.—Southern Workman.

Conquering Smallpox Scourge.

Smallpox is no longer feared by civilized mankind. This is partly due, no doubt, to the immunization of the races through vaccination, and partly to the better methods of sanitation and preventive treatment generally.

In the first year of our occupation of the Philippines, where smallpox was then an endemic or constant disease, there were 675 cases among our soldiers and 240 deaths. A system of rigid vaccination was adopted, and in the last five years there have been only five cases and not a single death. The army records in Porto Rico tell the same story, and seem to prove beyond question the efficacy of vaccination. Dr. S. C. Rockhill of Cincinnati reports that he has had much success in preventing the pock marking of the face in smallpox cases by painting the pustules with a lotion of nine parts glycerine and one part iodine. By this treatment also the patients get over the attack in from eight to fifteen days. Others prevent the pitting by keeping the patients in a room where no light whatever but red light enters.—Pathfinder.

Manufacture of Maniacs. At a recent congress of neurology a paper was read in which the movement by which the growing young man carresses the first shouls on his upper lip was labeled monstroschlostrepomania; the habit of twirling the cane seen in old drum majors, streptorhabdomania; that of putting the little finger into the ear, otodactylomania. Then we have "stomatodactylomania" who put the finger into the mouth, "onychophagomania" who bite their nails, "harmoniomaniacs" who drum with their fingers on window panes or tables and "trepodomaniacs" who nervously move their legs.

Cling to Their Superstition.

The Chinese, like the Indians, have their medicine men. The medical missionaries have done an admirable work in China, and now, albeit as a last resort, a portion of the 430,000,000 of population will appeal to them in preference to the native doctors. The London Lancet says: "In some localities the natives may still be found burning large quantities of gold and silver paper along with incense in the hope of averting, for example, a threatened invasion of their homes by cholera, plague, or smallpox, or firing guns and beating cymbals in order to frighten away the malignant spirits likely to give rise to mischief."

BANKER SUICIDE; HURT BY CRITICISM

C. Morrison of Baltimore, Asailed as Race Promoter at Havre de Grace, Ends Life.

TURNS ON GAS AT CLUB

Governor's Accusation of Bad Faith and Threatened Call Before the Grand Jury Also Figure in the Tragedy.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 18.—George C. Morrison, president of the Title Guarantee and Trust company of this city, committed suicide in one of the private rooms at the Baltimore Athletic club. The report to the police says Mr. Morrison ended his life with gas, which he inhaled through a tube.

Mr. Morrison was about forty years old and married. He occupied a conspicuous position in the business and political affairs of Baltimore, and also was prominently interested in horse racing.

He left a note explaining the deed. The coroner took possession of it, and, while refusing to make all of it public at this time, he said the dead man referred to the newspaper publicity given to his interest in the race track at Havre de Grace as one reason for his action.

Stung by "Yellow" Attacks.

"I am in trouble only to my God," wrote Mr. Morrison. "He knows whether it is just for the self-sacrificing work of years to be set at naught by the onslaughts of a yellow newspaper, against which there is no defense."

The suicide came within a few days of accusations made by Governor Goldsborough that Mr. Morrison and other leaders of the business and social life of Hartford county had made misrepresentations concerning the Hartford county racing bill. In a public statement Governor Goldsborough said that had not been deceived by the statement of Mr. Morrison and other representative men he would not have signed the bill which allows racing in Hartford county.

Grand Jury Investigation On.

Following up the governor's charges the grand jury of Hartford county began an investigation of the facts regarding the Havre de Grace race track, and it was the intention to summon Mr. Morrison, along with a number of others whose names had been mentioned in connection with the matter.

Mr. Morrison's keen interest in politics had led to his selection as chairman of the Democratic advisory committee for Maryland and to conduct the campaign for Wilson.

Mr. Morrison went to his room in the Athletic club at noon yesterday telling club attendants that he intended to do some work there. That was the last time he was seen alive.

TELLS OF DETROIT BRIBE

Deposed Official Testifies in Police Court Hearing on Graft Deal.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—Edward Schreiter, deposed councilman clerk, who confessed that he entered into a conspiracy with several aldermen to obtain money for their influence in closing a city street for the benefit of the Wabash railroad, testified in the police court hearing of the 17 aldermen who were arrested and charged with conspiracy that he had offered bribes in connection with the Wabash deal to seven other aldermen who are not under arrest.

All of the seven aldermen named by Schreiter in his testimony have denied that they were in any way implicated in the affair. The defense declares that it will place them on the stand to discredit Schreiter, who is the principal witness for the people.

GIBBONS HITS AT SUFFRAGE

Says Equal Voting Rights for Women Would Tend to Increase Divorce.

St. Louis, Sept. 18.—James Cardinal Gibbons, venerable dean of the Catholic church in America, told 550 men at the City club at a luncheon that if a historian ever wrote the "Decline and Fall of the American Republic" it would not be due to an invading army, but to the criminal sloth and negligence and to the political apostasy of our own citizens.

Before his address he said in an authorized interview:

"Equal suffrage, in my opinion, would tend toward increasing divorce, which is a social blot on the United States and is the greatest evil of the day."

POSSE HUNTS 5 BANDITS

New York-Memphis Flyer on Southern Road Robbed of Mail.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 18.—Five bandits who held up and robbed the New York-Memphis flyer on the Southern railroad near Stephenson, Ala., and looted a United States mail car, are being pursued by an armed posse. As the train carried no express car, and all that is known to have been taken was from the mail car, no estimate of the amount of the loot can be made, but it will be several thousand dollars, as 34 pieces of registered mail were taken.

Japan's National Drink.
Sake is the national alcoholic drink of Japan. It is brewed from rice, and, according to the latest available figures the annual production is about 210,000,000 gallons. Beer is becoming popular, however, and there are several large breweries, the total annual output being over 7,000,000 gallons.

Flirting With Fame.
"Why do you insist on nibbling around that hook?" said the wise fish. "You know the danger." "Yes," replied the little fellow; "but we all have a certain appetite for glory. I am willing to take a chance for the sake of being described to that man's friends as the big fish that got away."

Up-to-Date Burglars.
Burglars who forced an entrance into a jeweler's office in New York a few days ago carried with them an electrically driven drill for boring into the safe, which they proceeded to use successfully after connecting it with an electric light socket.

Was a Dandy Story.
"He invented a dandy story to tell his wife when he got home after midnight." "Good one, was it?" "A peach; it would satisfy any woman." "Did it satisfy her?" "It would 've, but he couldn't tell it."

Only a Burden.
"You have no magnificent ruins such as we have in Europe." "No," replied Mr. Cumrox. "I thought of putting up a few, but I gave it up. They're mighty artistic looking, but they're too hard to keep in repair."

FAST MOTOR BOAT SINKS

Going at High Speed Tech, Jr., Plunges to Bottom of Hudson River.

New York, Sept. 18.—While speeding at more than forty miles an hour, the mile a minute motor boat, Tech, Jr.—said by many to be the fastest craft ever launched—plunged to the bottom of the Hudson river during one of the speed boat races of the Yonkers Yacht club. It is feared she will be a total loss.
Her driver and the mechanic had narrow escapes from drowning.

TWO KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Another Is Fatally Hurt When Boiler
Blows Up at Coleman Station—Injured Men Taken to Hospital.

Elgin, Sept. 18.—Two men were killed, one fatally hurt and a third seriously injured at Coleman station, seven miles south of Elgin, when a boiler at the Weng Malt Drying plant exploded. Robert Payne, the fireman, was blown 75 feet and killed; Stephen Wekeck, a workman, was blown twice that distance and killed;
Joseph Hohick was fatally hurt and Andrew Zivica, the foreman, was injured. Aid was rushed from Elgin and the injured men were brought to hospitals here.

Fire Destroys Many Stores.

Danville, Sept. 18.—State Line City, a small old town seven miles northeast of Danville on the Wabash railway, was visited by a serious fire, all of the stores on the south side of the main street, seven in number, being destroyed. The loss was estimated at $50,000. The fire was discovered in the rear of Clem's restaurant and spreading to Crouch's grocery quickly got beyond the control of the villagers who made a hard fight with buckets and water carried from the public well.

Mine Secretary Successor Named.

Herrin, Sept. 18.—Returns of the special election of secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of this subdistrict were canvassed here and showed Charles Sullivan of Harrisburg elected. He will take office at once, succeeding the missing secretary-treasurer, G. F. Wilson. L. G.
Crain of Carterville and A. T. Pace of Herrin were the next two highest candidates. Total vote cast was 12-416, which was about 1,000 short of regular vote.

Johnson Speaks in Illinois.

Peoria, Sept. 18.—Governor Johnson swung back into Illinois for a tour, to be greeted by larger crowds than he met on his previous visit a week ago. His audience at Quincy was the largest outdoor gathering he has addressed since he started his campaign. He also spoke at Macomb, Galesburg and Peoria, the latter meeting being held in the Coliseum.

Barbers' Examiner Appointed.

Springfield, Sept. 18.—Announcement of the appointment by Governor Denen of William McClintock of Chicago as a member of the barbers' state board of examiners was made.
McClintock will succeed E. F. Wiegel of Chicago, who, besides being a member of the board, was its secretary and treasurer.

Young Theologs Given Examination.

Bloomington, Sept. 18.—Thirty candidates for the ministry were examined in theology, marking the opening of the Central Illinois Methodist conference, which met in fifty-seventh annual session. Rev. Homer Wark of of Kansas City, was the principal speaker. Bishop W. F. McDowell of Chicago is presiding.

Will Open Home for Poor Girls.

Aurora, Sept. 18.—Miss Edna
Smith, daughter of the late Capt. C.
H. Smith, millionaire head of the Western Wheeler Scraper works, has been quietly working for some time in the interests of a boarding house for working girls. It was learned. Miss Agnes Lanoux, a nurse, will be in charge.

Champaign Professor a Suicide.

Champaign, Sept. 18.—Leaving a note saying that nothing could explain his act, Lee Wallace, professor of architecture in the University of Illinois, committed suicide at his rooming house. He had laid a pallet on the floor, covered himself with a sheet and put a gas lamp under the sheet.

One Killed by Trolley.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Frank Carlson, a truck farmer of Niles Center, was instantly killed and his son, Henry Carlson, was seriously injured when a street car struck his wagon.

Before or After.

"I thought that in the 15 years of my practice of medicine," said a physician, "I had answered almost every possible foolish question, but a new one was sprung on me recently. A young man came in with an inflamed eye, for which I prescribed liniment—to be dropped into the eye three times a day. He left the surgery, but returned in a few minutes, poked his head in the doorway, and asked:
"Shall I drop this in the eye before meals, or after?"

Electric Street Sweepers.
The municipality of Berlin has found electrically driven machines for cleaning the streets much cheaper than the old horse carts. There are now twenty-four storage-battery machines in use. The electric machines do so much work that each machine is supposed to save about $1.33 a day by comparison with a horse-driven water cart.—The Electrical Review and Western Electrician.

Oiling Shoes.

The best way to keep black leather shoes from looking worn, and also from breaking, is to dip a small flannel rag in olive oil and rub it into the leather; if it needs further rubbing or wiping, take a fresh, dry flannel rag and go over it. This method is good for the woman in mourning, as it keeps her footwear black without polishing it, and provides a dulled finish.

Clothes.

He—"Did you ever observe what a difference clothes make on one's mind? Now, when I am in my riding togs, I'm all horse; when I have on my business suit, my mind's full of business; when I get into my evening dress my mind takes a purely social turn." She—"And I suppose that when you take a bath your mind's an utter blank?"—Stray Stories.

Record of Longevity.
A remarkable record of longevity is to be found in some of the rural parishes of France. In the village of St.
Thomas de la Plie there have been only 14 parish priests in 300 years, the fourteenth being still in possession.
The parish of St. Germain du Val, in Paris, has had only three pastors in 100 years, while that of Givry en Argonne has had but five in 130 years.

Perhaps.

A Boston minister has jumped into the spotlight by making the statement that American women wear too many clothes at summer resorts. This is the last objection we expected a minister to make. Perhaps the women whom he observed are inclined to freckle.
